

Thermal characteristic of PMMA reinforced with ceramic powder

The research aims to study the thermal of denture through the addition of the ceramic materials such as alumina and glass powder and note the extent of the effect of these additions on the increase or decrease in thermal conductivity because of their importance, since the thermal conductivity is an important factor for heat-sensing eating before swallowing.

Jwan safaa omran & Rusul khalid ahmed

Supervisor

Assist.Lec. Zina Noori Abdul Hameed